Acknowledgement of Country

Burwood Council acknowledges the Wangal Peoples as the traditional custodians of the area. We pay our respects to their Elders past and present.

We acknowledge and respect their cultural heritage, beliefs, and ongoing relationship with the land.

Walking on Wangal Country

The northern border of Burwood Council is Parramatta Road, which was the original journey way for generations of First Nations Peoples. Particularly, Eora and Darug Peoples travelled the corridor inland from the coast to collect resources and meet for social and ceremonial gatherings. This pathway represents the connection and travel of generations of people.

The southernmost point of Burwood Council is the Cooks River, which stretches inland to the Parramatta River, known as Burramattagal in Dharug, meaning Place of the eels. Traces of the Wangal People's practices and use of the river are still evident in middens and rock shelters which can be found along the waterways today. The river represents an important source of life and connection for generations of people.

Burwood Council beginnings

The municipality of Burwood was first incorporated by proclamation in the Government Gazette on 27 March, 1874. The first council was elected on 9 June 1874 which was then a quiet village consisting of 1200 people and about 300 buildings. In 2024, Burwood Municipality celebrated its sesquicentenary; 150 years.

Updating our image and identity

The Burwood logo was redesigned in 2019 to reflect the vibrant diversity of the community and lifestyle within the LGA. The new design is based on the letter 'B' and divided into six parts for the suburbs of the area.

The bright colour palette represents priorities identified by residents: harmony and friendship (pink), trust and stability (light blue), creativity and vibrancy (orange), heritage and heart (red), the natural environment (green) and energy and optimism (yellow). The typography pays homage to the area's rich heritage, having been inspired by earlier Burwood logos.

Looking forward to our future

Our 2036 vision is: Burwood is a welcoming and inclusive community that is defined by our diversity of people, liveable places and progressive ideas. We acknowledge and celebrate our history and place, protect our heritage and environment, and share a quality of life that is equitable, sustainable and supports each other to thrive and prosper.
