  - Improved fine and gross motor skills
  - Enhanced life skills such as time management and planning which are transferrable to other aspects of life
  - The opportunity to connect with others, increased friendship networks, and a sense of community and improved self-esteem.
- Each lesson:
  - Incorporated information and guidance on nutrition as part of the menu. For example, the benefits of breakfast and exploring fresh and fun breakfast ideas.
  - Included the option to sit and enjoy the meal they created.

FORGE COOKING CLASSES ARE IN SESSION!

Don't miss the fun!

Thanks to a generous community grant from Burwood Council we've received funding to run Interactive Cooking Classes for our participants!

Run by Jennie Thompson (founder of The Cooks Workshop) we will be conducting fortnightly classes on Thursdays. Jennie combines her love of cooking and working with people with disabilities into a program where making delicious and nutritious food is accessible for all.

This is a great opportunity for participants to learn and practice their cooking skills safely!
